Waitsfield.

Mrs. Harry Jones picked a bouquet in her garden last Sunday, Dec. 27. Who is ahead this time?

The boilers of the Waitsfield Lumber Company came on Friday, from the appear-ance of which one will think there is a chance for Waitsfield yet.

The annual church meeting of the Congregational society was held at the church and parlors Friday, Dec. 25. A very pleasant time was enjoyed, dinner being served in the courts.

Mrs. P. E. Lockwood started for church Sunday morning, and when opposite the residence of William Palmer she stumbled and fell. She was picked up and carried home. The doctor was called, and found she had dislocated her shoulder.

The Christmas exercises at the Congregational cheest.

The Christmas exercises at the Congregational church, Thursday evening, were well attended. The cantata given by the society and children was good, but the weather for the occasion was not so favorable as for the Methodist society, who had their exercises on Friday evening. The church was crowded, even the aisles and all the standing room taken. The trees were adorned by many be utiful presents, among which was a lovely silk quilt for the pastor and his wife. The exercises by the children were exceptionally fine. exceptionally fine.

Nina Newcomb met with quite a painful accident recently. While swinging in some way, as she had done a thousand times before, she accidentally slipped, and her arm caught the hammock hook in such a manner as to hold her fast till released by her mother.

Waterbury.

The scarlet fever has run its course in the Little River district, and Miss Stowell re-sumed her school on Monday of this week. Every one will rejoice in the thoughtfulness which resulted in the making of a Christmas purse of $30 for the venerable and much-loved Deacon Muzzey.

The measles having become epidemic in the Kneeland district, the school will be closed during the present week, but it is hoped that it can be resumed again on next Monday.

The Christmas festivities in the Congregational church on Thursday afternoon and Friday evening passed off according to an-nouncement, and were enjoyed by a multi-tude of people.

The Methodist mission Sunday-school at Duxbury Corners had pleasant Christmas exercises on last Sunday afternoon. This school is flourishing, and is receiving con-

In the elaborate and interesting description of the new National Life Insurance building at Montpelier, in the WATCHMAN of last week, the writer, in telling where the different materials came from, omitted to state that the brick came from the yard of G. E. Moody of Waterbury. The exercises in connection with the third quarterly meeting of the year will be held at the Methodist church, next Sunday morning, Presiding Elder Truax officiating. The quarterly conference will be held at the vestry of the church at eight o'clock on the previous Saturday evening. A full attendance is desired.

Pursuant to previous agreement the merchants will quite generally resume the cus-tom of closing at six o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week after the first of January. This notice is given that the patrons may govern themselves ac-cordingly, which they will doubtless be glad to do, as they have been in the past. There is no valid reason why any should carp at the custom.

Fred A. Howland has returned from his home in Lisbon and is at Governor Dillingham's for a short time. Notwithstanding very flattering inducements held out to him by Judge Young of Minneapolis, in whose office he has been the past year, he has concluded to remain in the East in order that he may be near his mother. Many friends will be glad to know that he is to remain in the East.

the East.

The revival meetings will be continued at the Methodist church on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings of this week, with a meeting at the school-house on Blush hill on Wednesday evening. This is the seventh week of the meetings. The work seems quiet, but sure and steady. Of late the attendance has been somewhat diminished by reason of widespread sickness; still the numbers have been good and the interest far from waning.

A novel feature of the observance of Christmas was the praise service under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperauspices of the Woman's Christian Temper-ance Union. Nearly 150 were present, and the participation in the exercises was gen-eral. A pleasant feature of the occasion was the recitation of different verses of praise by the children on one side of the house, and the recitation in concert of a psalm of praise by those on the other side. Several teams conveyed the members of the Sunday-school at the Corners to the gather-ing, where they participated in the exer-

In the fleath of Mrs. J. O. Freeman of the Center the town loses a most estimable woman, whose rare combination of domestic virtues and public activities are saidom equaled. The daughter of Leonard Fisher of Berlin, she had long lived in this town, and was widely known. Though fifty-five years old at her death, she seemed in the prince of her usefulness, and she will be missed in many places where her familiar form was seen. Among these are the prayermeetings, Sanday-school and other organizations of the church of which she was long a consistent member. The funeral services were held in the Methodist church at the Center at half-past one on Sunday afternoon, her pastor. Rev. E. H. Bartlett, delivering a fitting discourse full of tender and appropriate references to the dead. The local Grand Army Post and Woman's Relief Corps attended the funeral in a body, marching in the procession to the grave.

The church was thronged, and many not regular attendants came to pay their tribute of respect to the virtues and Christian graces of the deceased.

David Harvey of Woodward hill has been very sick with peritonitis; his brother Joseph has the grip, and their father now has pneumonia—an afflicted family. But this is hardly more than a specimen case. Sumner Blaisdell and wife and hired man have all been quite sick with grip, and Mrs. Blaisdell is threatened with pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wyman are both sick with the same disease, Mrs. Wyman being quite ill. Ed. Seabury and family at Mill Village are all down with the malady, as are Fred Grout and wi'e of the same place. Among the other victims of grip are Mrs. O. E. Scott, Morris Montgomery, several in Mr. Mansfield's family, Mrs. Jesse Pike and her aunt, Mrs. Sargent. It seems as if more people were sick now than at any former time, and it is difficult for the doctors to attend all the patients who are clamoring for their services, especially as Dr. Hooker has been quite seriously ill with the prevailing epidemic. — Inez Moody is home from the University of Vermont for the holidays. She entertains as a guest, on Thursday and Friday of this week, a young lady from the Moody school at Northfield, Mass., who hails from Alaska but is a native of Russia, and is the first female convert from the Greek church to Protestantism. — Mr. and Mrs. Rice Davenport of Williamstown have come to spend the winter with their son, Rev. ### East Warren.

In common with other towns, Warren is having its share of the grip, and there is much sickness from other causes.

One of the most pleasant of Christmas gatherings was that at George Newcomb's last Thursday. It was a family gathering, with short Christmas exercises, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Walter E. Barney of Barre spent Christmas at Geo. B. Newcomb's. — Stephen Goodspeed is spending a while with his daughter, Mrs. M. A. Palmer of Waitsfield. — Hosea Towne was called to Barre last week to attend the funeral of his sister.

Washington.

Christmas was observed by the usual "tree," speaking, singing, etc., at the school-house hall last Friday evening. The speaking was good, the presents numerous, and a good time was enjoyed by all.

The entertainments that have been held in the second sec

Williamstown.

This is a week of enforced and unpalatable idleness with some of our granite boys. The weather last week could only be fitted into the almanac for April, and the last part of it at that.

The school in the Henry Erskine district, of which Miss Etta Martin was teacher, has been broken up by diphtheria.

Next Sunday, in the Methodist church, the first of a series of sermons on "The Work of Creation" will be given.

Through last week the lives of Miss Katie Erskine and Miss Hood, diphtheria patients, trembled in the balance. Henry Erskine was thought to be somewhat better.

Owing to Prof. Willis H. Gale's illness with grip and the prevalence of the disease hereabouts, the concert planned for Thursday evening of this week has been postponed till further notice.

Denny Briggs, youngest son of Albern Briggs, and Miss Myrtle, daughter of Jason Johnson, were married on the evening of the 25th instream to the evening of the 25th instruction. They are to live at Mr. Briggs' old home.

Brock Flint of Chelsea, and, later, a clerk of J. K. Lynde, is about to go to Montpelier to work in the hardware store of D. L. Fuller & Son, better inducements being held out to him there than here. His friends will congratulate him on his "promotion."

The pastor of the Methodist church was generously remembered by his parishioners.
After a sickness of three weeks, Mr. Nanton was able to occupy his pulpit on Sunday.
Thanks to Rev. Mr. Perrin, the services in the Methodist church were not omitted.
Mrs. Nanton is still quite sick with the grip.

The following officers of the Epworth League have been elected for another year: President, Frank Bailey; vice-presidents, Mrs. Oliver Dickenson, Mrs. Gordon Martin, Orville Briggs and Mrs. Horace Hibbard; treasurer, Miss Alice Coville; secretary, Horace Hibbard. During the past year their services, with several conversions, have been regularly held, a Sunday-school in an out-district sustained, letters written to sick and helpless ones in distant states, with help given in money, ste, and a steady growth in numbers.

Seldom have the preparations for a Christ-mas festival here been made under such discouraging circumstances as were those of last week, owing to the epidemic of influ-enza. But in spite of all, and to the sur-prise and delight of those most interested, we do not recall a pleasanter and more suc-cessful festival than that at the town hall on Thursday evening last. Notwithstandon Thursday evening last. Notwithstand-ing the April showery weather, there was a good attendance. The music, rendered by some of the best singers of the four religious some of the best singers of the four religious societies of the place, was very fine, thanks in part to Mrs. J. K. Lynde's efficient leadership. Miss Katle Brush, resident here, and the soprano of the quartette choir of a Burlington Congregational church, lent her usual attractive aid. The singing by the children was greatly enjoyed, and the duets by the little son and daughter of druggist Brush were heartily encored. Rev. J. N. Perrin read an interesting, spley, and profitable original story, that is worthy of printer's ink. But in the whole program there was nothing better, perhaps, than Barney

D. Flint's personification of Santa Claus, and his address to the audience. We must be allowed to characterize it as superb, and seemingly beyond the power of another person in the place to equal. The two trees hung full of gifts, only two of which we can notice, viz.: A Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, the gift of his friends to Rev. R. L. Nanton, and an envelope with money from Nanton, and an envelope with money from Rev. J. N. Perrin's friends, with which to purchase such an article as he may choose.

The St. Albans bank cases comprised the business of the special term of United States circuit court at Rutland last week. Receiver C. W. Witters of the First National bank of St. Albans petitioned for leave to sell the assets of the bank in connection with a proposal of compromise. Counsel for the Central Vermont Railroad Company, for certain legatees under the will of Hiram and Susan Bellows, for St. Luke's church, for certain creditors of the bank, and also for those favoring the compromise, made long and exhaustive arguments. Decision was reserved. In the case of Horatio P. Seymour v. George W. Hendee, receiver of the Vermont National bank of St. Albans, it was ordered that the order heretofore granted, restraining the receiver from transferring or selling certain bonds of the Montreal, Portland'and Boston Railway Company, be continued to the February rule day, and if Bradley B. Smalley be then made a party defendant the order will be removed until further orders; if not, it will then be dissolved.
